A SERIOUS MISTAKE.

Much mischief is done in the treatment of constipation. The common opinion is that all requirement are fulfilled if the medicine forces unloading of the bowels. A greateror. Medicine simply purgative, corrects no morbid condition, consequently their use is followed by greater coativeness. A remady, to be effectual and permanent, must be composed of tonic, alterative, corrective and carthartic properties. These are admirably combined in Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills. They will, in a short time, cure all the sufferings that result from inactive bowels. They give tone to the intestines, simulate the secretions, and correct imperfect functional action of the stomach and liver.

LONDON-LIVERPOOL BOLIDAY.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The first Monday in August is always regular bank of England holiday, consequently business is suspended in all exchanges here and at Liverpool to-day, convennesses, spocks and Bonds.

New York, Aug. 4.—The disposition to await developments is still paramount in Wall street, and the stock market, even under the most favorable condition, shows no signs that there is to be a revival of interest in speculation or an increase in business. In the meantime the rather mixed condition, shows no signs that there is to be a revival of interest in speculation or an increase in business. In the meantime the rather mixed condition, shows no eight that there is not withstanding that returns from traine at present are most encouraging, is one of the most efficient causes in creating a feeling of hesitation and universal disposition to make no further move in the situation. The gold exports also continue, and there is a well defined lear that the design of the Bank of England is to draw still more gold, for which this country offers the only available supply at present. Local operators are more bullish than during the past two months, but are affected by a general uncertainty, and prominent commission brokers advise waiting for the present. The present. Local operators are more bullish than during the past two moaths, but are affected by a general uncertainty, and prominent commission brokers advise waiting for the present. The bank statement of Saturday was a disappointment to the advocates of higher figures, and further engagements of gold were made for extort today. This gave the bears snother opportunity, and they selected Missouri Pacific and Atchison to bear the brunt of the attack. Both stocks were forced off about 1½ per cent., but sugar was stong and held a decline in the general list in check and, notwithstanding that special efforts were made to get St. Pani and Rock Island down they were maintained at close to opening prices, a gain in carnings in the first named, being a factor in the strength displayed. Missouri Pacific felt the last influence, and retired to the lowest figure, while others again declined slightly. The close was barely steady, nominally at small fractions below first prices. Railroad bonds more active. Government bonds dull and steady. State bonds entirely neglected.

dence of Mr. A. T. Boger, eight miles east of Vernon, yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock, which caused the death of little Lawrence E. Davis, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Davis of Sherman, Tex. Mrs. Davis was on a little tour for the health of her invalid daughter, Miss Effie, and little Lawrence accompanied her They arrived Thursday evening and put up at the City hotel. On Friday evening quite a number of the excursionists from Oxford, Miss., on their arrival here, stopped at the City hotel. Yesterday morning they went out to see the country and to cross over into the Nation. Little Lawrence wanted to go with them; and as he was a bright and intelligent little fellow and had made their sequaintance at the hotel and secured their good graces, they gave him a seat with them. On their return they stopped with our worthy citizen, A. T. Boger, to learn of his prosperity since he came to Wilbarger county. They all took sents on the veranda, and one of the gentlemen cautioned the little boy not to go about the back, which had the guns in it. They thought he was among them on the porch until the sharp report of a Winchester was heard, and to their astonishment they saw little Lawrence sitting in the rear seat of the back which contained the two guns. They heard him hallow and and thought he had shot off one of the guns in sport, but soon heard him scream and ran to him, only to find that he had shot himself. The ball entered the body in the right breast, and came out under the left shoulder blade, ranging upwards. It is thought by all who were present that he got into the back on the rear seat, the guns being in front of the forward seat, undertook to draw the gun to him, and that in drawing it over the front seat the hammer was drawn back and discharged the cartridge. He was brought to town by Dr. Boger, and Justice Hall was summoned and rendered his opinion, that death was caused by gunshot wound, accidentally done by de-ceased. He lived about thirty minutes after being shot; was rational until the last few moments. He seemed to have no regard for himself in his agony, but spoke of his dear mother; was afraid that his d ath would cause her to go crazy. He requested those about him to tell his mother that he accidentally

Special to the Gazette.

BEAUMONT, TEX., Aug. 4 .- Between 3 and 4 o'clock this evening Dr. B. F. Calhoun, city physician shot Alderman W. P. H. McFadden. McFadden was on his way to attend a meeting of the school board, and as he was ascending the stairway Dr. Calhoun called on him to stop and at once opened fire upon him with a Colt's 44-calibre. A bullet struck McFadden just below the left shoulder blade, passing through his body. McFadden then ran up stairs, followed by Culboun, who fired on him again, but the ball went wide of its mark. McFadden reached the room where the meeting was to be held and Lawver O'Brian shut the door in Calhoun's face. He clamored for admittance, and finally was taken under arrest by the sheriff. He was bailed in the sum of $2500 for examination tomorrow. McFadden's wound is not thought to be fatal. Dr Calhoun stated to your correspondent that the cause prompting his deed was that McFadden had this morning written a letter to his wife making improper proposals. The letter for use in the trial. plenty of indications in the city of the approach of the triennial cantonment of the Patriarchs' militant which begins to-day. A great many business houses are decorated with fings and banners bearing Odd Fellow emblems and insignia. Men in gorgeous uniform of the military branch of the order are numerous on the streets. Everything indicates this celebration will be the largest gathering of the members of any order ever held anywhere. The estimates made some time ago by Gen. Underwood that the celebration would bring 100,000 strangers to the city seems likely to fall short of the actual facts. It is probable that the number of Odd Fellows and Odd Fellows' families that will be here doring triennial week will be nearer 200,000 than 100,000. At the hotels preparations are being made to entertain crowds of guests. With scarcely an exception all the down-town hotels are putting up large quantities of colors. Numbers of militant organizations arrived yesterday afternoon and evening and a very much larger number this morning. Strange Custom in the Liverpool Cotton Market.

A strange case lately tried in the Liverpool county court, says an exchange, brought to light a strange practice in the cotton trade at that port. The plaintiff was a cotton manufacthat port. The plaintiff was a cotton manufac-turer, and the defendant a master porter who discharged the steamer City of Lincoln of a cargo of cotton some time ago, and the action was brought to recover the sum of £30 as dam-ace for a quantity of cotton wrongly delivered. The plaintiffs case was that he was consignee of 250 bales of cotton ex the City of Lincoln, but when they came to delivery there were twenty-six short in the number bearing his marks. On the other hand, there was a considerable number of unmarked bales, and the plaintiff's case was that the warchousemen of the con-number of unmarked bales, and the planning case was that the warehousemen of the consignee were induced by a payment of 2s per bale to take delivery of unmarked bales, and that plaintiff's warehousemen so received twenty-six bales and was paid £3. Two bales of the twenty-six bales and was paid £3. Two bales of the twenty-six bales of the tw plaintiff's warehousemen so received twenty-six bales and was paid £3. Two bales of the twenty-six were of very interior quality, and he claimed the damages in consequence of his representative having been bribed to take the unmarked bales. The defendant contended that he was not liable, because the "counter-off," who actually authorized the money to be paid to the plaintiff's representatives, was not his servant, and also because the plaintiff failed to show that he had sustained any damage in consequence of the course which had been pursued. After argument the judge accepted this view, and directed a non sait. It transpired in the course of the case that the warehousemen of fifteen out of eighteen consignees of this steamer had received payments o two shillings per bale for taking unmarked bales. It was also alleged that this was a custom which had been some time in practice, owing to the difficulty of cealing with unmarked bales. The master porter could not sell them, and if the consignees refused to take them, the question was, what should be done with them? In this difficulty the device resorted to above appeared to have been resorted to.
